

HCAI Update

Date: September 7, 2011

Release 3.5

HCAI is preparing for a new release coming this fall. This upcoming release will contain a significant number of improvements that will touch every member of the HCAI business community.

Integration Testing

System integration testing is an important element of this HCAI release. We have worked alongside each of our business partners who integrate with HCAI throughout their respective preparedness activities. As a result of this engagement, we better understand the constraints of implementing change during the summer months when staffing levels may be reduced.

We have, accordingly, extended the integration testing window for an additional five weeks. All integration testing should be completed prior to the week of October 24, 2011.

What's Next?

An HCAI newsletter outlining all of the changes to the HCAI web application will be distributed five business days prior to implementation of the upcoming system release.

Please continue to visit www.hcaiinfo.ca for current information about HCAI.